- wherein said motor terminal is urged by a first elastic member made of insulating resin to a feeding terminal of a device, and said frame is conductive to a grounding terminal of the device via a second elastic member made of conductive
- 7 resin.